

Men—which way is best?

Are you matching cents against satisfaction?

We feel it is worth-while using this space today just to talk frankly on the subject of "Early Season Buying or Late Season Buying."

Some people agree with us and we have built up a fine early season business.

Some people do not agree with us, and we have very successful late season clearance sales.

So it works for us both ways, but still we know that the early season buyer is the most satisfied buyer, because he is not matching a few pennies saved against a lot of satisfaction lost.

You come in while the stocks are fresh and have a wide range of choice—you get just what you want—you feel better because you are wearing new clothes when you should wear them—you get full season service from them and can discard them with a feeling of contentment and not have to wear old styles next season, in order to get your money's worth.

We are all more or less proud, and it really pays to cater to that pride—it means ease of mind and that is worth while. Why be uncomfortably dressed for two or three months, waiting for pickups.

Prices at this store are always based on 100 cents worth for a dollar whether you buy late or early.

Think this over—the new Spring goods are here—we would like to have you see them whether you buy or not—will you come in.

We give and Redeem our own Trading Stamps.

THEN AND NOW.

Judge Kennedy for over a year has been persistently circulating the false report, and trying to create the impression that Judge Bethurum outraged and wronged Judge Jarvis five years ago by getting into the race for Circuit Judge, and not permitting Judge Jarvis to succeed himself, telling the voters that Judge Bethurum promised him that he, Bethurum, would not be a candidate to succeed himself, but would stand back and let Kennedy make the race.

In answer to both these charges it is only necessary to quote the withdrawal card written by Kennedy himself and published in the Somerset Herald February 11th., 1909. Said card, which bears his signature, is quoted in part as follows:

"For some time I have had an ambition to be your next Commonwealth's Attorney, having made a formal announcement to that effect. But a RATHER UNFORTUNATE MISUNDERSTANDING SPRANG UP BETWEEN THE CANDIDATES FOR THE CIRCUIT JUDGESHIP, EACH OF THEM BEING PERFECTLY HONEST ABOUT

IT. I foresaw serious complications, and cast about for means to bring order out of chaos. In order to accomplish that achievement, I was willing to forego my ambition to be Commonwealth's Attorney, and I now desire to formally withdraw my candidacy for that office, thanking the Republicans of the district for the very kindly manner in which they receive it.

"I cannot foresee what the future has in store for me, but six years hence, if I am alive, and still feel inclined to take a part in politics, it may be that I shall then ask my party to make me its NOMINEE FOR COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY. But at the present time, I bespeak the party's hearty support of Hon. B. J. Bethurum for Circuit Judge and of Judge M. L. Jarvis for Commonwealth's Attorney."

Very respectfully,
H. C. KENNEDY.

Now, if Bethurum wronged Jarvis out of the Judgeship or became a candidate for the office without good and sufficient reason therefore, why does Kennedy use the language above quoted, "but a rather unfortunate misunderstanding sprang up between the candidates for the circuit judgeship, EACH OF THEM BEING PERFECTLY HONEST ABOUT IT? If Bethurum promised Kennedy that he would give way to Kennedy this time and allow him to be the candidate for judge, why does Kennedy use this language in his withdrawal card five years ago, "If I am alive, and still feel inclined to take part in politics, IT MAY BE THAT I SHALL THEN ASK MY PARTY TO MAKE ME ITS NOMINEE FOR COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY"?

Judge Bethurum, as the above language of Kennedy shows, never at any time promised to not make the race to succeed himself. On the contrary he positively stated to Kennedy that he would stand for re-election and this was the general understanding amongst his friends at the time.

Moral: Politicians had better remember their records before taking a new position, because the record may turn up, as in this case, to shame them. Adv.—Somerset Herald.

THE RECORD IS THE BEST EVIDENCE.

Mr. Kennedy, in his announcement, makes use of the following language:

"I will make the same kind of Circuit Judge that I made as County Judge of Wayne county. Under my administration we put boot leggers and blind tigers out of business for the first time in the history of the county, and crime of all kinds was reduced to the minimum. The public are invited to investigate and find out for themselves whether or not this is true."

Nothing could be more erroneous and misleading than the above language, copied from the announcement card of this candidate for the high office of Circuit Judge. He invited the public to investigate, and an investigation of the court records reveal the true facts to be as follows: Kennedy went into office the first Monday in January 1906. At the following September term of the Circuit Court, in Wayne county the Grand Jury returned fourteen indictments against liquor people as follows: six against John Hill, three against Winfield Troxell, two against Marion Foster, and one each against the following named men: Peter King, Allen Roysden, and Russ Dick. At the January term, 1909, of the Wayne Circuit Court the last year of Kennedy's term as County Judge the Grand Jury of Wayne county returned indictments against the liquor people as follows: six against Joe Sweet, five against Frank Winchester, two against Wolford Hill, seven against Tolbert Dolan & Co., six against James Brock, three against John Dalton, two against Bud Winchester, two against Winfield Troxell, two against Richard Thompson and two against Hullet Philips, three against Joe Dobbs, and one each against Elmer Davenport and Jim Caater, making in all forty-five indictments against liquor people at that term of the court. The first term of Circuit Court after Kennedy went out of office, the Grand Jury returned fifteen indictments against liquor people the second term 30 and the third term 25, and against almost as many people. Judge Walker, successor in office, has disposed of as many liquor cases as Kennedy disposed of, yet, if you should believe Kennedy's assertions, Walker would have had nothing to do at all in the prosecution of liquor cases, nor would the dockets of the Circuit Court have been crowded with such cases. This is not all, Jerome Owens sold liquor within one mile of Monticello most all of Kennedy's term of office, and was put out of business by Judges Bethurum and Jarvis after they went into office.

Now, the Herald does not wish to do Kennedy an injustice, nor leave the impression that he did not try to do his duty in these prosecutions; but there is one thing certain, and that is, he undertook to mislead and deceive the people as to what he did as County Judge of Wayne county, and the Herald is simply calling attention to this that the people might know the facts. THE man who runs a store account several months buying in small quantities, should never go away from the store that accommodated him, in case he should have $20 or $50 to spend, and then come home with his purchases and say he can do better at some other place than at home.
It is always to be presumed that a man who is making large cash purchases can drive a closer bargain than one who makes small purchases on time. We do not believe there is a town anywhere in the state where goods are sold on a smaller margin than in our little city.

THERE are people in almost every community who are anxious to avoid paying the merchants a reasonable margin on their merchandise. They readily believe any fairy tale told them by smooth-tongued frauds who are entire strangers to them. Nearly all of these "soft snaps" offered by these swindles. The best plan is to patronize home merchants.
They help to pay a large part of the taxes, help support the churches, the schools, and are citizens among us. They are responsible for what goods they sell, and can be found at any time should anything be wrong or goods not as represented.

HE told his twenty year old son to milk the cows, feed the horses slop the pigs, hunt up the eggs, feed the calves, catch the colt and put him in the stable, chop some wood, split the kindling, stir the cream, pump fresh water in the creamery after supper and be sure to study his lessons before he went to bed. Then he went

GETTING up in the world is like getting up on a cold frosty morning out of a warm bed; both require a lot of self denial and a whole lot more of self-will. Such is the cruel laws of success.

ing it. If it is not meeting your

ARE YOU TO BLAME

There are 2,000,000,000 of dollars being sent annually from the rural districts of this country to the catalogue houses in the cities for necessities that could just as well be bought at home.

There are approximately 50,000 impoverishing the small towns, post office in the United States, and rural communities to get and were this enormous sum divided equally among them it would mean that $40,000 annually is being taken out of circulation in the vicinity of each post-office.
And when a dollar is sent to the large cities not a penny is returned. The mailorder houses do not own any property in the small towns, do not pay any taxes, do not help to keep up the highways nor schools. They do nothing but extort every dollar they can from the community.
That the above statements are true and that the custom of sending away for supplies is, merchant, what advantages in the way of schools, churches, and good roads he brings to them, how the home town increases the valuation of their property, and last but not least, the one big fact that they are not saving when buying away from home.

These are hard concrete facts that cannot be gotten away from, so it is up to you, Mr. Merchant to get busy and seek the remedy.
We suggest first that a merchant's association be formed in each town, and through co-operation with merchant and customer, a better understanding be had of a serious situation. If you or the other merchants of your town are not carrying the right stock, have representative citizens of the town and country come before your association and tell you what they think you should carry. At the same time make it plain to them what buying away from home is doing to you and the home town, and of your willingness to meet them halfway on a proposition that means a better town, better schools, roads churches and citizenships.

Instead of playing up on sympathy, present the matter in a common-sense business way—make them see it is to their advantage as well as yours, and we think good results will follow.—

TYPE GOT WRONG:—A few wrong type slits in can make an article sound very ridiculous in a newspaper or any other kind of print so far as that is concerned.
Some of these mistakes calls for corrections, some do not. In our last issue there appears a reading notice on the Kentucky Rural Credit Association and one of the statements in that article read "uncallable" notes, but our type had it read "uncollectable." To the majority of readers such a statement was at once recognized as a typographical blunder, but for the benefit of some who might be puzzled how a company could operate on such a plan, we make the correction The Kent city Rural Credit Association loans money and takes uncollectable notes but not uncollectable. Mr. Young

This is the second year for Payne in professional ball circles, having played last season with the Club of the South Atlantic League winning 23 out of 28 games. The Endicott-Lestershire Record of April 1st, published a good likeness of young Payne and states the Binghamton Club manager is expecting great things from him this season. Payne is known in Base Ball circles as "Speedy Boy" Payne and we predict that he will make good. He has been practicing here with the school boys for several weeks and expects to report in good shape.

Mrs. Lee Maupin, of Richmond was here this week visiting the family of W. T. Crawford. This was her first trip here since she visited the family of Chas. A. Redd, Sr., 42 years ago. At that time the railroad had been here four years. Arrangements were being made to build new court house. The population of town was 350. There were but six houses West of railroad crossing of Main street. The old tan yard was yet in evidence on lot adjoining the (now) residence of A. B. Furnish. A few of the wagons yet carried tar kegs at rear end of coupling pole. Mt. Vernons pavements consisted of two short runs of brick, planks in a few places and flat slabs of limestone in two places. Bar rooms were in existence. Traces of the old Proctor horse mill were left, about where Tom Proctor's residence is now located. One telegraph wire answered all purposes. Three trains a day. One passenger each way and one freight that went down one day and back the next.

BOONE WAY PLANNED. Winchester, Ky., April 7.—The Hon. John E. "Now see what you want and done." You illiterate mountaineers have foolishly worked for past three years to establish a highway from Cumberland Gap to Crab Orchard and then to be routed over the Kentucky system of turnpikes to Louisville, and have had counties along the route to vote a million dollars to construct or reconstruct highways between these points; and here steps in Winchester at the eleventh hour (and fifty nine minutes beyond) asking the universe to step in and be used as cats paws to pull from the fire the hard earned chestnuts, at the behest of Winchester, from the mountaineers. It appears a few individuals of Winchester have taken a Rip Vanwinkle snooze and it would be too painful to advise them that Boone Way has been named and located for more than two years and will be constructed and routed as originally planned. Winchester is a splendid pushing business city and full of enterprise but we must say there are two or three citizens for whom it is flattery to their intelligence to acknowledge that they know the war is over.

Editor of the Signal:

I understand that some of our citizens who were opposed to the Bond Issue are making great effort to nullify the election or retard the issue of the bonds. It is surprising to me that after it has been shown beyond a reasonable doubt that our people want this bond issue to be carried out and the work started on the roads as soon as possible that we should have some of our citizens of means attempt to hinder this work. To hinder is plainly all that they can do and they should stand aside now or give a hand to get the work started so as to relieve some of the families who are so badly needing the work. There are women and children in this county now suffering for food and clothing that would be relieved by starting this work at once. Are these men fighting against this bond issue willing to answer the people for this delay? Can they sleep at night when they remember that there are little ones suffering from whom they are withholding the labor that would give them food and comfort. It is an easy matter to run up and down the earth howling about some body being a robber, it is a serious charge to answer for when you are denying the labor of this county a chance to earn its support. That is exactly what the opponents of the bond issue are doing and what they will have to answer for here and also to their creator. W. J. SPARKS.

BRODHEAD

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mattingly of Cincinnati, were guests of Mrs. Maud Sproule a few days last week.—L. B. Hilton, of Stanford, was here Thursday of last week.

We understand that J. H. Ward sold his farm of seventy acres for $1700. This is the remainder of the old J. H. Jarrett farm, he having sold the remainder of the farm to W. M. His parents, a sister and an older brother lived here many years, and have lots of friends here. Ed is here on a months vacation, and to take a much needed rest.—O. C. Willmott, of Knoxville, Tenn., was with his brother, B. R. Willmott, last week.—Roy Sowder, who has a good position at Danville, was at home for a few days the first of the week.—Richard Robins, the 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Robins, who was stabbed by Grant Allen, the 17 year old son of John Allen, died from the effects of the wound at 12:30 a. m. Monday. His remains were laid to rest in the Methodist church cemetery Tuesday afternoon after services conducted by the Rev. A. J. Pike. Besides his parents, he is survived by three sisters, and two brothers. The bereaved ones have the sympathy of the entire community.—Mr. and Mrs. E. A. HIGHWAY THRU THE CUMBERLANDS

In connection with a splendid article on the proposed "Dixie Highway" from Chicago to Miami Fla., the Indianapolis News has this to say: Another interesting angle of the proposed north-south road has been developed in Kentucky. The Commonwealth, appreciating the important part Daniel Boone played in its early history, is building a highway across the state that will be known as the "Boone Way". It follows almost exactly the trail made by Boone in 1775 when he moved from North Carolina into the wilds of Kentucky. The trace he made has for years been known as the "Wilderness Road". This newly surfaced highway will give motorists entrance to the hoosierdom-to-Dixie Highway from points in Virginia West Virginia and North Carolina, enabling them to enjoy a good road either north or south. By this route motorists from the sections named also will be able to reach the Lincoln Highway via Louisville, Indianapolis and South Bend.

The Boone way is a splendid illustration of what small communities can do if they will only put their shoulders to the wheel. This great project, which is costing millions, was started and put through by the Commercial Club of the little town of Mt. Vernon, Ky., whose population is scarcely 1500 today. The citizens there organized, on the 9th of January 1913, what was known as the "BOONE WAY BOOSTER BAND," with James Maret, their original booster as secretary; everybody there "joined the gang," and went all over Kentucky and adjoining states south, east and north east, to boost the improvement of the old Wilderness Road or Boones trail. That they made enough noise to be heard is evident from the results obtained. The road is being built, and to little old Mt. Vernon, Ky., belongs the credit. Instead of engaging in wordy controversies about things, Mt. Vernon simply went "at it;" and now the Boone Way is on the way.

Boone Way will run from Cumberland Gap to Louisville over route via Mt. Vernon, Stanford, Danville, Harrodsburg, Lawrenceburg and Shelbyville, or diverted at Danville, via Nicholasville, Lexington and Frankfort, the burial place of Boone. Lincoln and Boyle counties have already taken action and have appropriated funds to make proper improvements on their good highways so as to come up to the desired conditions deserving the official designation of Boone Way. This highway will be the motorists and tourists route into and thru the Cumberland Mountains to the south east.

Watch Worth Fully $3,000

Finest Time-Piece in Kentucky Result of Famous Medicine

Louisville, April 9th. A very handsome watch is now on exhibition in this city.

The watch which is the property of L. T. Cooper, the noted "Tanlac Man" is valued at $3,500, maybe a little more. Forty seven flawless cut diamonds are imbedded in its gold case not to mention its equipment of pigeon-blood ruby jewels. This beautiful time-piece is exquisitely embellished with ornamentation of foreign workmanship and contains the finest Swiss movements. It is really worth seeing.

According to Mr. Cooper, the watch came into his possession through the merits of Tanlac. It happened, so he says, about this way:

In one of the large cities visited by Mr. Cooper some time ago, the young son of a wealthy jeweler suffered from a complaint which had baffled physicians of the city and Eastern specialists. The boy was anaemic, listless and not at all playful and as lively as the other little fellows of his own age. The parent said that the child's appetite was irregular, at time ravenous and that he was extremely nervous and complained of a twitching sensation most of the time. Itching at the nose and dizziness were other symptoms enumerated by the jeweler. "He asked me," said Mr. Cooper, "if I thought Tanlac would help his child. In reply I stated that he could test the medicine on its own merits. The result was he bought Tanlac for his son."

"Thinking nothing particularly of the incident, I was a little surprised a few months later to receive a letter from the jeweler stating that Tanlac had relieved his son, who was now rosy and running about like the rest of the boys and asking me if I would accept a small token of his appreciation." I answered his letter, telling him that while I would appreciate his gift, the fact that Tanlac had accomplished the right results in his child's case was sufficiently gratifying to me. Shortly afterward, this beautiful watch came. You can imagine my surprise. To me this gift is invaluable, because it bears a double meaning."

The famous medicine, Tanlac, can now be bought in Mt. Vernon at Chas. C. Davis's drug store and can also be obtained in Livingston at the Central Drug Co's Store.

THE KICKER.

You see the kicker
Go 'round on a grinch,
His forehead in frowns
His jaws like a pouch,
He speaks of progress
With the slightest of slang, And is ready to give Every movement a bang.
Whenever you meet him
You are sure to know,
For he kicks with his tongue
Instead of his toe.

Where ever you meet him He will never smile,
The science of kicking He studies all the while;
Speak to him pleasant
He will grunt, he will groan.
That proves he belongs To the kickers war zone.
Remember the kicker Pronounces his woe
With his kicking tongue
Instead of his toe.
